

Story analysis

Service includes a two-to-four page critique of your book (any length) and follow-up Q&A session. I'll look at the story flow and development, character arcs, plot, etc., and write a comprehensive summary of where I think your story rocks – and also where it needs work, with ideas on how to reach your goals. Partial/incomplete, draft or final manuscripts are accepted. This is a strategic analysis, not an editing service!

Turn around time: one week. Slots are limited, and you can always request to reserve a specific week for any month in 2016 before we're booked up.

Who benefits from this service:

- first time authors
- authors overwhelmed by the opinions of a billion different critique partners
- authors experimenting with a new genre/subgenre

Pricing: $150, due upon reserving a date.

Email sarah@capturedpress.com to reserve a date.

In-depth line editing

(Expedited options available)

In-depth line editing with the intent of polishing the manuscript before a final copyedit. This service is a deeper level edit than a typical line edit and includes content editing, where needed, and notes/suggestions on how to improve the character development, story arc, or other aspects of storytelling. Final copyedit is recommended after this in-depth line edit.

Who benefits from this service:

- Self-published authors who take pride in a clean, coherent read

- Any authors seeking representation, who want to present a polished book

Pricing below. Turn around timeframes in parenthesis after the price. To expedite (with finished projects returned in three to five days), add 50% to the price. For projects needed in one to two days, double the price below and email before making a deposit. I have limited availability for one day service, and will have to check/clear my schedule to accommodate.

Up to 45,000 words	$199 (7 days)
46,000-70,000 words	$299 (10 days)
71,000-90,000 words	$399 (14 days)
91,000-110,000 words	$499 (20 days)
110,000+ words	Email for pricing

50% due upon reserving a timeframe. Second 50% of the price is due at the start of the project. For rush projects – full price will be required upon reserving the date.

Once the project has begun, the initial 50% deposit is non-refundable. If you cancel before the project begins, the deposit is fully refundable.

Series discounts available. First book is full price and additional books in the series 20% off.

All fees to be paid via Paypal.

Email sarah@capturedpress.com to reserve a date.